

How libraries can help - Exempt Cards

Kent Libraries, Registration & Archives can give help and support to people with disabilities and mental health problems in the following ways:

- A free library card allows you to borrow books for three weeks with no late fines for books. Ask at any Kent Library for more details
- Audio books including eBooks can be borrowed free of charge
- Music CDs can be borrowed free of charge
- Can't find the book you want? Reserve books and other items via our online catalogue, for delivery to any Kent library you choose (free for all Kent items – charges can apply for out of county stock)
- Free computer access for two hours every day in any of our libraries (under 16s need parental permission to use the internet)
- Computers with accessibility software to support planning, reading and writing. Book an Computer Buddy to help get online
- Free black and white printing and photocopying, tinted paper available if required – up to 20 pages per day
- Advice and support on obtaining alternative formats for people who find it difficult to access regular print
- Our website www.kent.gov.uk/libs has all sorts of useful information: check your library card and renew books, browse the library catalogue, and find library details about your local library
- Use our online enquiry service Ask a Kent Librarian
- Free online resources: Check out the eMagazines, eNewspapers, eBooks and eAudio books on our website – all free to download
- What you do pay for? DVDs, requests from outside the county and print-outs from microfilm/ microfiche reader printers
